JANUARY'S TIP OF THE MONTH

The power of positive parenting

What is positive parenting and why is it powerful?

Positive parenting is about showing children love, warmth and kindness. It's about guiding children to act the way you want by encouraging and teaching them. It's about helping children thrive by sending the powerful message: You are loved, you are good, you matter.

Research reveals the power of positive parenting

- Positive parenting sets children up for success

Research shows that positive parenting helps children do better in school, have fewer behavioral problems, and stronger mental health.¹

- Positive parenting helps the teenage brain

Neuroscientists discovered that positive parenting contributes to better functioning in the brain regions associated with emotions and cognition during the teen years.²

- Positive parenting is linked to a happy and healthy adulthood

Harvard scientists found that positive parenting has long-term benefits, including better relationships, mental health, and well-being during adulthood.³
